Joe Buscaino for L.A. City Council

The LAPD officer is a first-time candidate, but he is young, earnest and smart.

“In the special election to fill the vacancy in the Los Angeles City Council’s 15th District, we choose Joe Buscaino, a Los Angeles police officer and a first-time candidate for public office. He is young, earnest and smart. He listens.”

[L.A. Times, 12/26/11]

“District residents should be comforted by the fact that Buscaino, after his service as a full-time LAPD patrol officer, has put in several years as a senior lead officer. That’s important. A senior lead is a neighborhood troubleshooter. His job compels him to know the streets and the people, know the problems and, importantly, know how to arrive at solutions.”

[L.A. Times, 12/26/11]

Paid for by Working Californians to Support Buscaino for City Council 2012. 777 S. Figueroa St., Ste. 4050, Los Angeles, CA 90017. Major funding provided by Local 18 Water and Power Defense League (International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers) Committee and United Firefighters of Los Angeles City Local #112 Committee. Not authorized by a City candidate.

Vote by Mail for Joe Buscaino

“Citizens should vote... Voting gives people a stake in their government and sends a message to elected officials that their constituents are paying attention. All residents have a right to the services that government provides and a right to be heard, but voters have a particular degree of moral and pragmatic clout with a politician that nonvoters lack.”
